Provo, Oct. 31 .- Moses Thatcher last night spoke here to a great audience. His characterization of Mr. Bryan is regarded as one of the most beautiful tributes ever uttered here. Mr. Thatcher said in part: It may appear strange how differently sane minds view the same persons and principles never changing, but students only physical but moral courage, a genever anxious to trace effects back to their tleman of not only national, but internasane minds view the same persons and principles never changing, but students ever anxious to trace effects back to their causes learn early that intolerance combined with narrow prejudice se distorts the mind that ignorance becomes utterly unable to comprehend that a religious, social, commercial, industrial or political opponent may possess honesty, patriotism, ability and merit of the highest order. In contrast to this the Republicans collected county taxes in 1906 of $18.656.38; in 1907 the taxes amounted to $22.470.69; and in 1908 the amount will be $25.690.40. As the taxes received in the last two years are nearly cowed and weakened by years of malpractice; when usury kings compel congresses they do not pay; when preachers make of pulpits what unscrupulous politicians are desecrated; for by encouraging centralization, fostering monopoly and together worshipping the "golden calf," they manifest a willing disposition to sell the liberties of the people for a mess of political pottage. Thus false followers of the Master unite with aggressive money combinations and trusts—always and for that there might be money in the county treasury, but such does not appear to be the fact. Neither is there any public improvements to account for the disappearance of the money. The committee pointedly remarks, if there is any reason at all for this increase in county taxation, point it out. That is, of course, except the em-Fattening on the People.

President Morris justifies his course at the recent meeting of the officers of the wards and other organizations of the Salt Lake county, and county chairman of the Republican party. Uses the Church's Name

On Thursday evening Mr. Miller met Mr. Mackay on the street. After the two had exchanged salutations, Mr. Mackay "Mr. Miller, it is the will of the church that you withdraw from this contest and support my candidacy."

Mr. Miller laughed and said:

"Until I receive official notification to that effect from the church, John, I cannot think of withdrawing from the race. John C. Mackay is far and away the most unpopular man on the Republican county ticket, and the defeat that he has been striving so desperately to avert is a deserved one. His popularity in Murray was indicated by the straw vote taken on Friday evening at a Republican and the only law by which I will be governed in this particular, is this. Son, sit down, take counsel from thine own soul; investigate these doctrines, think them investigate these doctrines, think them vote Miller received 167 votes and Mackay 20. The American Eagle, of Murray, a Republican paper, is making a fierce fight on Mackay and is supporting Miller. Everywhere in the county Mr. Miller is very popular and from the county districts he will come to the city with a substantial majority over his opponents, and his manly stand in opposing the influences brought to bear on him should insure him enough votes in the city to fluences brought to bear on him should insure him enough votes in the city to elect him.
